Nowadays, there are several video-making software available in the market for users worldwide. This software gives marketers and businesses the tools to easily publish and create their videos without any hassle.

With so many options available for the users, it becomes difficult to choose a reliable and genuine video making software for sure. So, are you looking for the best 3 video-making software for your overall requirements? If yes is your answer, here are some of the best video-making software you should be aware of right now!

Blender

Blender is one of the reliable and trustworthy videos making software available for the users. It offers several great features and benefits to both advanced and beginner users. It is a high-quality and straightforward video-making software to use. The user interface is simple and easy to understand for everyone.

It is available for Linux, Windows, and Mac laptops. It is also free to use, and you do not have to pay anything to use it. Its video editor should be enough for all your video needs. You would perform several basic actions like splicing, adjustment layers, keyframes, filters, and video cuts. It even helps in carrying out complex tasks like video masking.

Lightworks

Lightworks is also one of the reliable and genuine video making software available for Windows, Mac, and Linux users. This great software is fully packed with several useful features that would make your video-making experience better than ever before.

It has both a free and a paid version. It would be better to go for the free version first before proceeding further with the paid version. The paid version would cost you only $25 a month. It supports high precision video streaming, Multicam support, and various video formats. You would get 4k video support only in the paid version of this software.

HitFilm Express

HitFilm Express is a video-making software that contains all the basic features you can expect from a basic editor that includes audio editing, splicing, trimming, and many more. As a result, it is one of the best all-around free video makers out there. It has an incredible interface that is simple to use for users. In addition, the free version includes more than 180 special effects.

Before downloading this software, HitFilm asks you to share a status update on your social media accounts. It offers audio and video filters, compositing tools, advanced cutting tools, and keying for green screen effects. It also includes a store where you would buy add-ones, but the free version is enough for your video editing needs for sure.

Conclusion

Finally, you are aware of the best 3 video making software for your overall requirements. All the above-mentioned software is easy to use and great value for your hard-earned money for sure.
