In brief

Do you want to be the best gamer? If so, then it's time for you to invest in a gaming mouse.

Do you want to be the best gamer? If so, then it's time for you to invest in a gaming mouse. A good gaming mouse will make your gameplay more efficient and comfortable by providing excellent accuracy and durability. You must choose a mouse that suits your needs and budget. The list below has some of the best mice on the market today at prices under $50!

With so many options on the market, it can be hard to choose which one will work best for your needs; but don't worry! We've done all the research for you and narrowed our picks into this easy-to-read list based on price range and type of game played (FPS vs. TPS). So whether you're just starting or an experienced gamer, we have something here for everyone!

Our list of recommended best gaming mouse under 50 dollars is here!

1. Razer DeathAdder Elite ($44.99)

Razer's DeathAdder Elite gaming mouse is the ultimate tool for gamers who want to be competitive. It comes with a 16,000 DPI optical sensor and an ergonomic shape that will allow you to play comfortably for hours on end. The mouse also features seven programmable buttons, which ensures your commands are executed quickly and efficiently.

The DeathAdder Elite's ultra-responsive optical sensor means you can react faster than ever before. In addition, its ambidextrous design makes it ideal for both left-handed and right-handed players.

One of the best features of this mouse is that it's perfect for those who prefer to use a claw grip. This means you'll be able to play games where fast clicks are more important, rather than timing your button presses correctly. It may not have as many customizable options and buttons as some other mice on our list, but there's no denying how great these feel in-hand

2. Logitech G402 Hyperion Fury ($24)

Logitech has given the gaming world a gift of epic proportions with their new mouse, The Logi G502 Proteus. With 8 buttons and onboard memory for profiles that can be used even without installing the Logitech software, this is easily one badass mouse!

That's not it, though - they've also included Fusion Technology which means your hand won't have to slip due to sweat or oils as you play across various surfaces, including glass tables like an absolute pro! I recommend getting yourself one before someone else snaps them all up first because these things are only going to get sold out faster.

3. Logitech G502 Proteus Core ($35)

The Logitech G502 Proteus Core is a worthy upgrade to the already popular and effective mouse, the G402. It adds additional buttons for easier customization while playing FPS games, as well as more weight balance options so you can customize your gaming experience with this one-of-a-kind device!

The upgraded version of Logitech's extremely popular G402, The Proteus Core, has many features that will enhance your gameplay in any game type, including an adjustable center of gravity and customizable button placements.

4. Mad Catz RATM Wireless Mouse

The Mad Catz RATM Wireless Mouse is a crazily feature-loaded mouse. In fact, when you first see it, you feel like the bat-mobile and not just another computer device! I mean, this is seriously priced but should be high on your list of mice to consider for purchase since it comes with all features from other wireless models that are currently available plus an awesome look as well as adjustable length so one can find their comfort zone in terms of how they prefer to use the product.

5. LOGITECH G203 PRODIGY

Logitech is responsible for some of the best computer peripherals in the world. The G203 Prodigy gaming mouse, while not as robust or expensive as Logitech's more extravagant options, provides a fantastic experience to gamers on a budget with its 8k DPI and 6 programmable buttons that can be configured to your liking- all you need are Logitech's provided software which allows RGB lighting changes when needed.

6. FLAGPOWER RGB Gaming Keyboard and Breathing Mouse Combo

The FLAGPOWER gaming keyboard and mouse is a perfect set for beginners that provides a good gaming experience. The device has a 3-color changeable backlit design that will make your late-night adventures more exciting, with 19 anti-ghosting keys to enjoy every game without dropping the keypresses!

It also features an auto sleep function after not being used for about 5 minutes which conserves battery power while you are away from it - no need to worry when you're in the middle of playing games on break or at work as long as this keyboard doesn't turn off by itself! Not only does this ultra-lightweight mouse add convenience but durability too; its ABS removable keycaps have been designed, so they don't move around even if accidentally hit during gameplay.

Conclusion

We have tried to make your selection process easy and simple with the help of our best gaming mouse under the $50 buying guide. Comment below if you are interested in any other product or would like us to add it as a suggestion for more buyers. Happy shopping!
