Booking.com

Booking.com is one of the famous hotel booking apps that is easy and efficient. You can book stays, flights, car rentals, and flight+hotel in this app. The easy-to-use feature of the app is a plus point over its competitors. Other hotel booking platforms, such as Hotel.com and Expedia, are not compatible to use on mobile.

There are over 5.8 million properties listed on booking.com worldwide, making it one of the best resources to find the best deals and discounts on hotel booking. In addition, when you frequently book your stay through this app, you become a member of the "genius rewards program" and are eligible for hefty discounts and late checkout at some properties.

In 2018, it turned into social media platform for sharing tips, photos, views, and whatever you like. TripAdvisor is a great app for reading genuine reviews about a place, hotel, or restaurant.

The app allows you to create a profile like Instagram, where you can share your photos and travel tips. The best thing about TripAdvisor is that it is travel focus app which makes it a valuable resource to get some travel inspo. The TripAdvisor app works well with Android phones and iPhones.

Vrbo

It is a less popular but cheaper go-to app for vacation homes and rental bookings. Airbnb, the alternative, is much more popular, and Vrbo provides more options in vacation homes. It offers cabins, beach houses, condos, apartments, and long-term rentals rather than just condos and apartments.

You will be able to find large properties providing the entire house on rent at cheaper rates than its alternative, which are perfect for a family vacation, party, corporate retreat, and more. In addition, there aren't many hidden fees and more premium house rental listings. The app is suitable for both android and iPhone.

Skyscanner search should be the first thing to download if you're a frequent traveler or often catch a flight to save a few bucks.

The features such as Explore Everywhere and Best Deals by Month lets you find the cheapest flight to almost every part of the world if you're flexible with travel dates. The Your Perfect Trip feature offers custom recommendations such as kid-free travelers. In addition, they recently expanded their horizon and provided car rentals and hotel searches.

The one app which is a must for everyone! PackPoint is a trip organizer app. This excellent travel app lets you list items to carry that are essential for a destination you're traveling to. With this amazing app, you will never forget anything again. All you need to do is select the location, dates, and type of trip, and you will get the list of essential items to pack.

It analyses the destination, time of year, and weather forecast to create that list and recommend accessories such as umbrellas, beach wear, jackets, and so that we often forget to pack. You can download the app on Android and iPhones.

These are the few essential apps you must download. Traveling is not about booking a bus ticket, flight ticket, or booking hotel. It is more than this. These apps will help you to enjoy your vacation without a fuss.
