In brief

HDR Project 4 by FRANZIS is a professional HDR image editing tool compatible with both Mac and Windows. It offers an intuitive interface, Lightroom plugin support, masking and layers, real-time processing, and a one-click optimization assistant, making it suitable for beginners and advanced users alike.

HDR Project 4 is one of the most reliable and genuine HDR software available in the market for users all around the world. This software is created by FRANZIS and fully compatible with both Mac and Windows machines. With the help of this software, you would be able to create super-realistic HDR images easily by using various tools and options. The user interface is very simple and easy to understand for the users. If you are a photographer and prefer using Lightroom in your workflow, then you can take the help of Lightroom Plugin. Users can also export from Lightroom to HDR Projects 4 without any issues at all and the results will be really impressive for sure.

There are several helpful controls and options available for adjustments for the users. It also helps in taking natural HDR photographs. This software is best for advanced users and beginners as it is very easy to use and has lots of settings for HDR images editing. Users will be able to use masking and layers features which plays an important role in developing the best HDR image.

HDR Projects 4 Features

- Save time during the processing of high-resolution pictures
- Categories for color lights and fidelity
- Color-exact tone mapping for realistic and clear rendering
- Various color filters for editing your pictures
- Low light shootings
- Never lose a file and remember what you upload
- Fast optimization- Assistant to edit your images with a single click
- New editing tools for removing noise
- Quick to Install

- Affordable and Customer support

The software is available at just $99 which is not expensive for the users. Before going for the paid version, you can go for a free trial for sure. After going for a trial version, you would have full knowledge about how it works so that you can go for the paid version without any second thought for sure. All the tools are accurate and responsive and no need to wait for too long to see the results of each effect. The processing times may take some time while you are working with your image so it will be better for you to work in the Preview Mode. To see the changes you have made to current settings applied immediately, you must ensure that 'Real-Time Processing' is always selected.

Conclusion

I have personally used this HDR Project 4 software and amazed by going through its best and unique features for the users. It is customizable so that you would be able to tweak and adjust your images as much as you want with several controls over the final picture. HDR Project 4 is bursting with important features and helps its users to create HDR images without any hassle for sure. I would like to recommend this software to everyone due to its great reviews and features. If you haven't tried this software yet, then it is the right time to download and install it on your computer.
