Use SaveTweetVid Video

SaveTweetVid is an online video downloader that can save photos, GIFs, and audio files from Twitter that you can locate. To download a video used in a tweet, identify the URL of the tweet in question.

You could have viewed videos without clicking on the original tweet in your Twitter account, and you can view them either by clicking the text of the tweet or by clicking the timestamp. It appears before the tweet, next to the username of the person who had uploaded the video, showing how long before the tweet was released.

For the open tweet, highlight the URL in the web browser's address bar and either right-click and pick 'Copy' or simultaneously press Ctrl+C.

It is achieved by going to the SaveTweetVid website and pasting the URL in the 'Join Twitter URL' box. Then, you can either right-click and choose 'Archive' in this area or left-click and simultaneously press Ctrl+V.

Then you can see a list of potential transfers to film. You can access twitter images at a varying resolutions like 720p, 480p, and 320p. Click the 'Download' button next to the version you're interested in and start playing it.

Click the three-dot button in the bottom right corner of the video display and click the 'Upload' option in the menu. Next, choose a video name and place to file and click 'File.' You will find that the SaveTweetVid page lists the different copies of a video that you can download.

It has a QR code that your smartphone can scan. It helps you import the latest video to your phone quickly and conveniently by merely checking the QR code, so if you want to download videos from Twitter to your phone daily, there is a neater alternative to this.

Sharing videos on Twitter

There are four methods to share the videos on Twitter:

Record: You can edit, record, and share the video using the Twitter app (Twitter for Android OS 4.1 or iPhone and above).

Import: You can download videos from your smartphone if you use the Twitter app on your iPhone or iPad.

Upload: Upload video to twitter.com.

Go live: Learn directly from your Twitter app how to create a live video.

Recording a video with a Tweet

Tap the camera icon from the top menu, or swipe left from the timeline to post a video at the moment instantly.

For capturing a video, tap and hold the capture button.

Tap Tweet once you are ready to post, or tap Add to the thread to link to your last tweet and then select Add to share.

To add your thoughts, you can tap the Tweet icon to capture or post a screenshot.

You'll see fast selection choices below the Tweet compose box to add a new video. For quick access, the most recent videos from the gallery will serve as thumbnail previews.

Click the button on the camera to take a video.

Click on the tweet to post it.
